CHARTER

ACADEMY

Winter
2020

Coeur d'Alene Charter Academy, celebrating 20 years!

A letter from the Principal...

I sit down to write this article in an empty school building on a Monday afternoon. It's oddly quiet for a Monday. The intermittent bells still signify the beginnings and endings of class periods, but without the accompanying sound of hundreds of trampling feet. Today is a snow day. I started getting questions on Friday—"Do you think we'll have a snow day on Monday?"

Well, I don't have an inside line on weather prognostication. I sit and look out the window and check the weather outlook on my phone just like everyone else, and I keep doing it until about 5:00 a.m. It's rare to know anything much sooner than that. My kids have an app that offers a percentage chance of school closure, which they continually want to compare to my estimates (which I remind them are no more valid than theirs...)

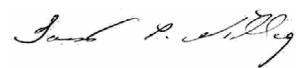

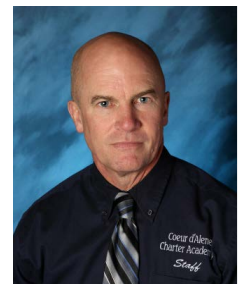

Although I can't foresee a snow closure any better than anyone else, I am VERY happy with the rolling out of our School Messenger notification system. Gone are the days of phone trees, or staring at the TV news, waiting for your school's name to crawl across the screen. With the push of a button, we are able to notify all of our stakeholders of a closure or emergency. It worked beautifully in this, its latest test. If you found yourself bleary-eyed, watching the TV screen at 6:00 a.m., I encourage you to contact our office to get signed up for Messenger alerts. We don't use it for trivial matters or daily announcements, so you won't be bombarded with useless notifications, and you may be able to sleep in on those snowy mornings.

Winter break brought the annual migration of alumni back to their alma mater. We love seeing our graduates and hearing of their successes "out there." The stories are exciting and inspiring. The most rewarding thing to hear is also the most common—"College is easy!" I have heard this for years, of course, but I never tire of it. I especially enjoy the look of revelation in the eyes of the speaker. Even though we've told our students of this phenomenon, it seems they have to experience it for themselves to believe it. This is usually accompanied by amazement that their classmates are struggling and finding the college workload too much to handle.

To be a Charter graduate is to be prepared for success. When we use the term "college prep," we use it advisedly. Our students know how to study, how to work independently, and how to think. Those are the requisite skills to succeed when you leave the comfortable world of high school. Unfortunately, not all students are as well prepared as Charter students, as evidenced by the woeful statistics related to college attendance and completion in the state of Idaho. The legislature and State Department of Education will continue to scratch their heads over the "Go On" rate, and roll out never-ending gimmicks to make it better, but until they realize that college success is the result of rigorous preparation, nothing will change.

As we roll into semester exams, don't lose sight of the goal. The homework, the demands, and the stress of exams are precisely what bring our alumni back to thank their teachers and tell us that they were indeed prepared for life after high school.

December Student of the Month

Coeur d'Alene Charter Academy's Sunrise Rotary Student of the Month for December was Maria Aguiar. Nominated by Mr. Gabrielsen, teacher after teacher seconded his praise of Maria as someone with dedication to everything she does: academics, Knowledge Bowl, music, and Mathcounts. Ms. Bright noted, "she was president of the Spanish club last year and prepared activities that made the club fun for students of all ages." From tutoring to mentoring, Maria's service to others was mentioned by many. She is a model Charter student. We are proud to have her honored by our community!

January Student of the Month

Coeur d'Alene Charter Academy's Sunrise Rotary Student of the Month for January is Gabe Kamalani. Nominated by Ms. Fleming and Dr. LeBlanc, Gabe has proven to be a helpful, gracious, and kind member of our student body. Dr. LeBlanc remarks that Gabe "engages easily and joyfully with others... He is able to show his playful side in French class..., and understands when it is time to learn and when the time is sanctioned for students to play." That delightfully theatrical quality in Gabe has been nurtured through the instruction of his drama teacher Ms. Fleming, who said, "Gabe is a brilliant performer, scholar, linguist and person. He is unique, and has grown in his confidence, willing to stand out in a crowd."

APPLICATIONS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS STATE ARE OPEN
In these programs, students learn more about state government by participating in week-long programs during which students interact with one another as representatives of different government entities, conducting legislative sessions, elections and other activities meant to teach students about the objectives of the structures of city, county and state governments. Current students with junior standing should apply to local American Legion and Auxiliary posts. Please see Mrs. Wasson for that information. Selected students must be available to participate for the duration of the entire event.

COMEDY SHOW

WEDNESDAY NIGHT LIVE

Charter's Annual Sketch Show!

7:00 PM, Wednesday, February 5th in the HSMDD
Come for laughs, music and glow-sticks!

Thank you to all who donated to Jingle Books!

We received over 22,000 books from our incredible giving community! We distributed books the week before the break to all kindergarten through third-grade students in the Coeur d'Alene School District. Each child was able to choose up to six books for his or her home library. Literacy is of the utmost importance for a successful education. As a community and as a nation we must continue to support our most fragile learners and help them graduate from third grade with strong literacy skills. Thank you for your support and thank you to Norman and Diana Gissel and the wonderful volunteers who help keep this program running year after year.

Lunch Program!

Our Charter Parent Organization has created a lunch program to assist families in need of school lunch support. If you would like to learn more about this program being offered by the CPO, please contact Stephanie Holecek at: stephholecek@yahoo.com.
